Advance Your Career in Toxicology with SOT

Stay at the cutting edge of science...

"Attending the SOT Annual Meeting is a great opportunity to keep up with new research in my field. Through interactions with other scientists, I am able to see how my work may apply to other areas of toxicology. It has also introduced me to a lot of cutting-edge research and techniques that I wouldn't be exposed to otherwise."

—2008–09 Michigan Regional Chapter Student Representative

Network with leading toxicologists...

"SOT Annual Meetings provided me an opportunity to network and interact with scientists from industry and academia. Through the contacts of the scientists from the meetings, I was able to receive help even from outside of my institution for my current research, and potentially for my career. The camaraderie of the student members, my future colleagues and collaborators, will be an asset for me as a scientist."

—2008–09 Student Advisory Council Chairperson

Present your research to peers...

"Presenting a poster at SOT helped me learn how to interact and network with other scientists. It's amazing how exciting it is when other people are interested in your work and interested in helping you achieve your goals. Presenting helped me become more confident and comfortable around established scientists. For the first time I was treated like a peer, not a student."
