

Global Toxicology Scholar Program

SOT Members: Bring awareness of toxicology to educational institutions throughout the world!

- Identify the target underserved institution outside of North America.
- Work with a Special Interest Group or other partner to identify a host and arrange a visit, perhaps coordinated in conjunction with another trip the speaker is making.
- Submit a proposal for funding.
- Make formal and informal presentations on toxicology topics and careers during your campus visit.
- Report your success back to SOT!

The Education Committee invites SOT members, Regional Chapters, Special Interest Groups, and Specialty Sections to send proposals for partial or full support of travel and lodging costs, up to $1,250, for campus visits outside North America by toxicologists.

Provision of matching funds from the Regional Chapter, Special Interest Group, Specialty Section, the academic institution involved, or the business employing the visitor is encouraged.

More information, the application, and a summary of other campus visits are found on the SOT Web site under “Services: Education Resources” then “Education and Public Outreach.”
