Food Safety Specialty Section (FS3)

FS3 Event Sponsors

The Coca-Cola Company
The Association of Food, Beverage and Consumer Products Companies

FS3 Objectives

1. Serve as a focal point for the interaction of toxicologists and other professionals interested in food safety.
2. Promote the application of toxicologic principles and experimental methods to food safety evaluation.
3. Conduct programs, including educational activities which emphasize current developments and issues in food safety.
4. Simulate interest in food safety as it relates to the science of toxicology.
5. Serve as a resource for the public (consumers, educators, regulators, and lawmakers) to access scientific developments and information in the area of food safety.

Why Join FS3?

1. Build important connections with other students and professionals who could be future peers and collaborators.
2. Be recognized for your research with scholarships and awards provided annually.
3. Access networking opportunities, allowing interaction with professionals in academia, consulting, government & industry.
4. Learn about career opportunities in the area of food safety.

Who should join FS3?

In addition to the broad area of food safety, FS3 interests include:
- Food Additive Toxicology
- Nutritional Toxicology
