Our Mission

The SCCT is will address the broader impact of toxicological research to inform decisions that advance safer chemistry throughout the product lifecycle. Additionally, the SCCT will support scientific activities designed to promote the execution and application of toxicological research to reduce the likelihood of regrettable substitution throughout the supply chain through interdisciplinary partnerships.

Best Postdoc Abstract Award for Outstanding Primary Research in Sustainability

Hazel Lin, PhD, University of Strasbourg
Advisor: Alberto Bianco, PhD
Project: Effects of Graphene and Molybdenum Disulfide on Macrophage Toxicity

Best Postdoc Abstract Award for Outstanding Applied Research in Sustainability

Monika Roy, MSPH, PhD, University of Massachusetts, Lowell
Advisor: Joel Tickner, ScD
Project: Addressing the Essential Use Concept through the Lens of Functional Substitution

Upcoming Webinar Series – Summer 2022

In collaboration with the ELFSI SS, we are hosting a 3-part webinar series on the topics of scientific bias, data integrity and communicating with the public in an era of mistrust.

Our goal is to highlight the importance of these issues as related toxicological research, and to kick off a multi-society initiative to address them.
