

NCAC-SOT WELCOMES NEW OFFICERS IN MAY 2021

VICE PRESIDENT

Colleen E. McLoughlin, PhD, DABT, ERT

Dr. McLoughlin is the Director of Toxicology at Scivera based out of the Charlottesville, VA area. She leads the Toxicology Team at Scivera working with major consumer products brands conducting chemical hazard, risk, and alternatives assessments, as well as product certifications. She received her doctorate in Biomedical Engineering from Virginia Commonwealth University in 2012. Her dissertation research focused on immunotoxicity testing of a polymer used in tissue engineered constructs and development of a novel drug delivery system. Subsequently Dr McLoughlin was a postdoctoral fellow at the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) In Morgantown, WV. She is a Diplomate of the American Board of Toxicology and a European Registered Toxicologist (UK Registry).

COUNCILOR-NEWSLETTER EDITOR

Abigail McEwen, MEM

Ms. McEwen is a Health and Safety Scientist with Insight Exposure & Risk Sciences Group, where she evaluates risks from a variety of commercial, consumer, and industrial products. She completed her Master of Environmental Management (MEM) in environmental chemistry and health from Duke University in 2015. She has authored peer-reviewed articles on pesticide safety, metals risk assessment, and acute toxicity testing in aquatic invertebrates. She has been a member of SOT since 2016, and previously served as a Councilor for the Midwest Regional SOT chapter. Her long term research interests include the intersections of toxicology and environmental, occupational, and public health. She is a recent transplant to the DMV area, and looks forward to participating in the NCA Chapter!

POSTDOCTORAL REPRESENTATIVE

Sanallah Sajib, PhD

Dr. Sajib is an ORISE Postdoctoral Fellow at US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) at the Center for Devices and Radiological Health (CDRH), where he is developing an intravital multiphoton imaging system to study the immune cell responses to metal implants. He received his doctorate in Pharmaceutical Sciences from Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, Amarillo, Texas in August 2020.

Dr. Sajib has served on the communications committee of the North American Vascular Biology Organization (NAVBO) along with several student organizations at Texas Tech. He is an author/co-author of 10 peer-reviewed articles and 4 book chapters and 2 editorials. He has been a member of SOT since 2018 and served as volunteer in CME courses.

GRADUATE STUDENT VICE-REPRESENTATIVE

Haley Garbus, MPH

Haley Garbus is a second year PhD student at the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health in Toxicology, Physiology, and Molecular Mechanisms. Her research focuses on cardiovascular physiology and pathology and the role of sex and aging in the development of heart disease. She received her Master of Public Health from the Yale School of Public Health in 2019. Haley looks forward to serving as a Graduate Student Vice-Representative in NCAC-SOT.