Dear Colleagues:

Spanning five days, the SOT 61st Annual Meeting and ToxExpo presents a multitude of experiences and opportunities. This document is meant to provide you with a quick overview of the events, activities, and resources that are available in San Diego as part of our meeting.

SOT has planned its return to an in-person event with the utmost care and caution to protect the health and safety of all involved while considering content accessibility for those who must join remotely.

As previously announced, this year’s Annual Meeting will feature an enhanced meeting experience to provide additional ways to access and engage with the scientific content:

• Most Scientific Sessions will be livestreamed on the SOT Event App and Online Planner.
• Registrants on- and off-site will be able to submit questions during many of the livestreams.
• All livestreamed sessions will be available as on-demand recordings to all registrants.

Remember that registration for the meeting—whether planning to attend in person or remotely—is required to participate in the 2022 enhanced meeting experience.

The ToxExpo and all social and professional development events, such as receptions and mentoring activities, will be unique to the in-person meeting experience. Similarly, the Continuing Education courses can be taken in person, and by May 2022, video recordings of some courses will be added to the CEd-Tox online continuing education library, where individuals can register to take them online.

All registrants participating in the meeting on-site in San Diego are required to provide proof of full vaccination against COVID-19 to acquire their badge, attend sessions, and engage in meeting activities. Additional protocols also may be instituted for the meeting as we continue to monitor recommendations from health authorities and adjust our meeting procedures. The most up-to-date information on the meeting's health and safety protocols is available on the “Health and Safety” web page on the Annual Meeting website.

I am looking forward to ushering in the Society's return to an in-person Annual Meeting and ToxExpo and seeing many of you in San Diego.

Sincerely,

Myrtle Davis, DVM, PhD, ATS
2021–2022 SOT President

Health and Safety
SOT looks forward to the 61st Annual Meeting and ToxExpo and is prioritizing the safety of all meeting participants in planning for and conducting the event. The Society is monitoring and following safety, health, and travel guidance from global, national, state, and local health authorities.

Per California regulations, proof of vaccination is required to participate in the meeting on-site in San Diego. Most of the Scientific Sessions will be livestreamed, with live question-and-answer discussions, for individuals attending remotely, and on-demand recordings will be available for all registrants. The most up-to-date information on meeting protocols related to health are available on the Annual Meeting website.

Regarding personal safety, SOT employs security personnel to assist before and during the meeting. An action plan in case of protests is provided to all session Chairs and is available on the Annual Meeting website. In addition, the website contains tips regarding best practices for personal safety, such as removing your badge when you leave the Convention Center and knowing your surroundings.

Enhanced Meeting Experience
Individuals fully vaccinated against COVID-19 returning to an in-person meeting experience will have access to myriad networking opportunities: the three-day ToxExpo, receptions, and luncheons, not to mention the hours of scientific engagement and learning.

All registrants can access the meeting’s scientific content through livestreams of most of the Scientific Sessions, live question-and-answer-discussions, and on-demand video recordings.

The session livestreams and video recordings will be accessible through the SOT Online Planner and SOT Event App. The livestream feeds will appear as part of the individual session descriptions in the app approximately 15 minutes before a session is scheduled to begin. The video recordings of sessions will be available in the same location not long after their conclusions. The session description also will feature a question-and-answer section that attendees on-site and remotely can use before and during the session to submit questions to the Chairs and presenters.

SOT Online Planner and SOT Event App
The SOT Online Planner and SOT Event App provide up-to-date information on the Annual Meeting and ToxExpo and are your all-in-one tools to access the complete schedule, abstract details, and more.

The Online Planner is optimized for use on a desktop or laptop computer and is the best resource for planning your meeting itinerary before your arrival in San Diego. The Online Planner syncs directly with the SOT Event App.

The SOT Event App contains features not available on the Online Planner, such as venue maps, making it the perfect on-site companion for managing your Annual Meeting itinerary.

In 2022, the SOT Online Planner and SOT Event App also will be the exclusive providers of the enhanced meeting experience. Session livestreams, question-and-answer discussions, and on-demand recordings will be accessed through these resources.
Hotel Reservations
SOT has reserved rooms and negotiated exclusive rates at many hotels near the San Diego Convention Center. By booking through the official SOT housing partner, Connections Housing, you get exclusive hotel rates, increase your networking opportunities by staying in the same locations as other attendees and exhibitors, and receive full-service assistance with making and updating your reservation without any prepayment.

You may make new reservations or modify or cancel existing reservations by using the online housing system or by contacting Connections Housing directly.

Get Away and Recharge
SOT provides small seating areas throughout the ToxExpo for individuals to rest, regroup, and meet with others. Also, within the ToxExpo, the SOT Pavilion (Booth #1534) has seating and power-charging areas for those looking for a break.

For those who like sunshine with their quiet, the San Diego Convention Center has many outdoor terraces overlooking the San Diego Bay that attendees can use to relax or meet with friends and colleagues.

If you’d like to enjoy some sessions in solitude, SOT is making most of the Scientific Sessions available for on-demand viewing to registered attendees as part of its enhanced meeting experience. These recordings will be available on the SOT Online Planner and SOT Event App for viewing from the comfort of your hotel room—or later at home or in your office.

Finally, many of the SOT hotels offer complimentary fitness centers and pools as ways to escape and unwind—not to mention spa services for an added fee.

Scientific and Meeting Program
To view the abstracts, speakers, and additional information for the 70+ Featured and Scientific Sessions, 12 Continuing Education courses, and additional meeting activities, consult the Preliminary Program PDF, other Annual Meeting publications, SOT Online Planner, or SOT Event App. The SOT Online Planner and SOT Event App are updated continually and are the best sources for information on Annual Meeting sessions, events, and activities.

Attendee Qualifications
The Society of Toxicology (SOT) reserves the right to review applications for participation at the SOT Annual Meeting and ToxExpo to confirm that the applicant meets the SOT attendance qualifications. The Society may reject a registration by any individual or organization or withdraw registration privileges at any time if the individual or organization is found to be inconsistent with the Society's principles and interests.

Individuals
Participation is available only to bona fide individuals who are engaged in or promote the field of toxicology or biotechnology research and support the growth and development of the toxicology field.

Organizations
Participation is available only to bona fide organizations with public policy positions and business practices that are generally consistent with the SOT mission, goals, and reputation, as well as its policies and principles, as determined by the Society.

SOT Code of Conduct
The Society of Toxicology is committed to providing a safe and productive environment for all of its meetings; one that fosters open dialogue, the free exchange of scientific ideas, the promotion of equal opportunity, and is free of any sort of harassment, coercion, and discrimination. All meeting participants are expected to treat others with respect and consideration, follow venue rules, and alert Society of Toxicology staff, officers, or security of any potentially dangerous situations, individuals in stress, or instances of harassment, coercion, or discrimination.

The Society of Toxicology is fully cognizant that there are areas of our science that are controversial. Our meetings can and should serve as an effective forum to consider and debate scientifically-relevant viewpoints in an orderly, respectful and fair manner. The policies herein apply to all meeting attendees, speakers, exhibitors, guests, staff, contractors, and volunteers.

What Is Harassment?
Harassment includes speech or behavior that is not welcome or is personally offensive, whether it is based on ethnicity, race, gender, religion, age, body size, disability, veteran status, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or other reason not related to scientific merit.

Behavior acceptable to one person may not be acceptable to others. As such, meeting attendees must use discretion to ensure that respect is clearly communicated. Harassment expressed in a joking manner still constitutes unacceptable behavior. Retaliation for reporting harassment is a violation of this policy, as is reporting an incident in bad faith.

Reporting Harassment

The Society of Toxicology is committed to providing a safe environment for everyone at any of their meetings. If an individual experiences or witnesses harassment of any kind, they should contact Society of Toxicology staff by email or by calling 703.438.3115 or use a venue phone or personal cell phone to contact venue security if they feel unsafe. All complaints will be treated seriously and responded to promptly.

If an individual wishes to file a formal grievance of harassment:

- Notify meeting staff by email or by calling 703.438.3115.
- Society of Toxicology staff will discuss any grievance first with the individual filing the grievance, then with the alleged offender, seek counsel if the appropriate action is unclear, and report the incident and findings to the Society of Toxicology Council and legal counsel.
- The Society of Toxicology will consult with the individual filing the grievance prior to taking any action.

The Society of Toxicology reserves the right to remove an individual from a meeting without warning or refund of any expenses, to prohibit attendance at future Society of Toxicology meetings, and to notify the individual's employer.

If there are questions related to this policy, please contact the SOT Executive Director by email or by calling 703.438.3115.
